MISCELLANEOUS READING. THE SENSATION OF COLD.

Much of the inconvenience we feel from cold, is owing in a great degre to the integi stock's Vermituge, Jayne's Tonic do ; Degrath's nation, while habit gives it the apportance Electric Oil, Genuine; Patent Nursing Bottles. of the natural effect of the temperature (a superior article;) Thom's Extract, Copavia On such a morning as that of Saturday when the temperature was not below the ble Pills, Brown's Essence Ginger, Sulphate freezing point, a person mulli-d up in the most extravagant manner, and taking advantage of the sunny side of the street. might very easily throw himself into an ague, from a more facey, and facey alway exaggerates, of the old which he only slightly experiences. Upon a "riping cold" TRYSTALINE POMADE, for strengthening morning, we often see individuals harrying and beautifying the Hair, promoting its to and fro, crouching and concerning themselves into all sorts of shape, and suivering as if a thousand chills were upon thou. Yet they have the same powers of ondurance as the little darker a ho sits whistling contentedly on his wood card, or the artisan who goes to his labor with no other protestion but the clothes he wears in the mildest winter weather. It is only by habituating one's self to the true realization of the temperature and his physical capacity for endurance, that the effects of the imagination may be obvioud. An inadequate protection of the extremities from cold is often the cause of exesting the Janey to a feeling of cold all over, when the person C. Norwood, M. D., of Cokesbury, S. Gen. Espinasse, a distinguished military character in France, is said to be a man in the prime of life-from forty to forty-five years of age, and has been very good boking though now greatly disfigured by a shocking accident that occurred some time ago. He had a favorite horse which he often amused himself in feeding with hits of sugar, which the animal took from between its portability. A valuable tonic and alterative his master's lips. One day the General had been tantalizing his favorice by dadging his head every time the cremme attampted to seize the sugar. Either irricated by disappointment, or (as we are more willing, for the credit of the course race, to believe,) in its engerness to make sure of the Oil Lavender, Oil of Bergamot, pure ground coveted sweet, the horse snapped at it with such violence and suddenness, that he carried off a part of his master's tage!
